Lyn Grady is an IIN Integrative Nutrition Health Coach and Wellness Educator introducing concepts to women who are beginning, or resuming, their journey towards wellness. You Can Start Today: A Beginner's Guide to Better Health is her second book. She is the author of the College Girl's guide "Farewell, Do Well, Be Well," helping young women to navigate life on campus in ways that best support their physical and mental health. As a former full-time working live-in caregiver, she is passionate about self-care for caregivers. Her upcoming book, "The Caregiver Must Live" will be released in the near future. Lyn is the founder of Your Be Well Bestie LLC, where she helps women to bridge the gap from where they are to where they want to be by offering tips, tools, and strategies with the care, compassion, and commitment of a "bestie". Focusing on 8 pillars that contribute to overall wellness, Lyn is a firm believer that it is never too late to get on the "path to better."
